

Kenneth Clarke, MP
Anti-Corruption Champion
Westminster, UK

REF KANGAROO COURTS

25/10/2013

Dear Mr. KENNETH Clarke

It is heartening to know that Sir James Munby will no longer tolerate the corruption of legal process that has been reported to the Ministry of Justice, including yourself, by victims over many years. <http://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-2476232/Jail-social-workers-children-telling-parents-says-Britains-family-judge.html>

As you will see from the attached, matters of this nature were brought to the attention of Helen Grant in her capacity as Undersecretary of Justice, and she laughed in Mr. Bellingham's face and mine. Similarly, these matters have also been put before you, when you were Secretary of State for Justice, by hundreds, if not thousands, of victims of the courts, and they have also been laid before Chris Grayling. The only responses have been that of Helen Grant and the occasional response from you, telling victims of fraud – a criminal offence – to seek civil remedy! How very lucrative for the courts, and yet how inappropriate!

Many victims have presented their cases in person to representatives of both the House of Lords, and the House of Commons, on several occasions, and nothing has been done to help them. Here is one such presentation:

There are many more like this. See video No. 2 – Brian Hudson.

<http://edm1297.info/2010/03/11/tackling-the-serious-oppression-of-hm-subjects/>

As Anti-Corruption Champion, perhaps we can encourage you, now, to reconsider past attitudes and examine the complaints properly?

The above article in the Daily Mail references just one of the tricks that corrupt local authorities pull regarding court orders, hearings, etc. and are not limited to family courts. Corrupt council lawyers manipulate dates/documents/court hearings, and legal process generally, as if it were all a game that they can never lose. People's lives are ruined by these criminals. Many have been rendered homeless and left to fend for themselves. Should they complain and keep on complaining, they are labelled "Vexatious Litigants", and denied service by the courts. Should a victim continue to complain, attempts are made by the State to section the victim under the Mental Health Act, in order to silence them permanently.

Even lawyers hired by parents/victims, are working against them, especially if they are funded by legal aid, and it is alleged that the Crown Prosecution Service will ensure that legal aid funded cases will be lost. These lawyers change sides once the legal aid has been obtained. The parents/victims always lose.

As long as court administrators and judges are prepared to ignore documents with wrong dates, ludicrous timelines, lack of signatures, court seals/stamps, etc., and proceed with judgements, regardless, this will go on. Unfortunately, as word is out that due legal process is not followed in numerous cases, and this has gone on for many years (some cases are over thirty years old) the public is now convinced that it is the entire judiciary that is corrupt. Although this is surely not the case, evidence is often ignored by certain judges, who deliver their judgements without considering all the evidence.

<http://www.exarone.com/articles/5068/judge-describes-how-service-at-high-court-has-broken-down>

The public is not convinced that these are solely administrative errors. They follow a predictable pattern, particularly when local government is involved, and laying blame on administrative staff may not be the complete answer, based on numerous allegations, such as the following, which is obviously not an administration error.

Judge Suzanne Walker is one such judge who will be recorded in the court transcripts as having admitted not to have read an affidavit in its entirety, and to have proceeded with the probating of a will, regardless of the irregularities of said will, and other matters. She proceeded, despite having expressed her concerns in court about the irregularities of the will! Honest and ordinary members of the public are victims of the UK courts and criminals, and this fact is now widely known outside of the country. British justice is in tatters.

We are also aware that judges "creatively edit" transcripts before they are released, and that the judiciary wants to deny the public access to audio transcripts. It is all very suspicious and not the least bit transparent.

Fortunately, Sir James Munby has taken a stance for justice, but perhaps he is not yet aware of the full extent of the activities of criminals with law degrees, and their supporting network. It has been cleverly concealed for years. We are grateful to Sir James Munby for taking the moral high ground, and hope to see other judges joining forces with him to stop the corruption of the British legal system, which we believe is now in crisis.

The racketeering that goes on among the legal fraternity, using the courts as their tool, is beyond belief. May we suggest that it would be timely for parliament to consider implementing anti-racketeering laws, such as R.I.C.O. in the USA?
http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Racketeer\_Influenced\_and\_Corrupt\_Organizations\_Act

Currently, the UK has no anti-racketeering laws, and organised white collar crime is completely out of control, especially as none of the British police agencies is willing to investigate any allegations made by citizens, but only allegations made by the State itself. The Bribery Act only covers bribery, and “corruption” involves a much wider sphere of activities than simple bribery.

Public demonstration outside Royal Courts of Justice October 2013

http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=DHg\_OGaImY4

I look forward to your reply.

Yours sincerely,

Regards,
Mike & Ann Clarke
31 Cherry Tree Rd
Blackpool
FY4 4NS

email
mike@rake.net
mike@opg.me
websites: www.opposepredatoryguardians.com
www.opg.me www.courtprotection.me.uk