Angie sent a text today saying mum does not look well. Mum said physically she is fine but she feels with the sheer mental torture you are putting her through trying to keep her house in Blackpool that you have Solicitors on trying to enforce its sale leaving her homeless is having its draining effect on her. Perhaps your conscience is beginning to prick you further eh?

Michael Clarke Mother again on her third day out to a new restaurant pictured here again as more proof to my sister that after 16 years of care she is not starved left un-bathed, surrounded by flies?? Angie so you've tried everything else and its failed so you are back down in the gutter again. Oh well me n mum will just take it in our stride as we have for 16 years, mental abuse from you!! You are the one that is sick! Get some more counseling!!

Martyn Roy Dolby I have known Mike for more than 10 years. He employed me in his club. I have just recently visited Mike in the costa's and was appauled at the fact that he has to live such a secluded life up in the hills of Spain. All the time i have known Mike, his number 1 priority was always his mother. He has spent the best years of his life looking after her, and treating her like the Princess that she is. After staying with Mike and james for a week, it showed me a true mother and son bond, that is few and far between these days. At the end of it all, Mike deserves what little will be left,after all the corrupt , lawyers, Judges, courts, and years of fighting, he deserves alot more than a house, he has given decades of care to the only woman he truly loves...his Mum

Mary Higgins The best thing a person can have is the right to choose what they do with their life, where they stay and who they want to handle their affairs and that would seem to be Mike. I honestly think that where there is money involved that all hell breaks loose and the person at the centre of the situation as in this case Mike's mum gets forgotten and greed takes priority. Wonder if Mike's mum had no cash if family would be so bothered? Jury is out on that one.

12 hours ago · Like

Sarah Regan i see all these posts keep coming up on facebook and on pages about judges being involved and i've read a bit about it as i've been in a similar position but bottom line being is the fight over your family member or the money? does the money go to your mums care? as people are saying theres being bars and cars and houses bought out of it seems theres a few moral issues going on but as long as your mums bein looked after is the priority and she looks fit and well, people are saying shes fit and well and happy with her son so whats the problem, the money or your mum?

12 hours ago · Like

Katie Wild nobody in the family has ever asked for any money of my nan except mike and still nobody asks for money BUT mike and i think everyone forgets of when my mum was caring for her for years when she was in her worst state after her accident, a 'vegetable' is what the doctors said and where was mike then? only when her money appeared he wanted to care for her and he is only clinging on to her now because he wants to drain her every penny thats left and spend it living the high life that he thinks he is entitled to. not working and having his money handed to him on a plate. so get a grip going on like u know, have you ever even spent a full day with my nan ?

Sarah Regan all im sayin is why you speakin to people like that if your tryin to get points across like that you sound like arseholes with no respect and just swearing and ranting and raving at people, and if i want to get involved on something thats perminantly on my newsfeed, james is close friend of mine and if mikes gettin shit off you lot 24/7 how is writin all this solving anything?? shes living in spain, and unless you lot live with him how do you know all this is going on about her mistreatment??? ive been through all this arguin with families and its a living nightmare so i do know alot about fighting over care and people spending money wrongly, but if thats the case prove it and get it sorted out rather than writin it on facebook, he wouldnt be allowed to spend all her money without her permission and if hes done so, he can get charges brought against him for it if shes not in the right frame of mind. Unless thats the case stop giving me shit and Mike shit and do it the right way not over facebook Michael Clarke good luck to you and your mum and this nightmare of a family of yours x
